

Ever Wondered How Much Your Home is Worth?

Dear Friend,

Whether you plan to sell your home or not, finding out what it's worth in today's market is a fun and informative exercise. In this month's flyer, I'm sharing ways you can do just that.

Many companies and financial institutions offer free apps where you can get an approximate value. However, a real estate agent can offer a much more in-depth Comparative Market Analysis (CMA). For any financial transactions, such as mortgages or refinancing, you'll need a professional appraisal of the home.

If you need a recommendation for services related to real estate or any other types of professional services, please let me know and I'll connect you to one in my trusted network.

Sincerely,

Oh, by the way®... if you know of someone who would appreciate the level of service I provide, please call me with their name and contact information.
